

Jan Fulcher
Executive Coach

As a coach, Jan helps her clients conquer obstacles and design strategies for success. She is an active facilitator and mentor who helps professionals live and lead from a place of intention.

A former business owner, Jan knows firsthand what it takes to manage the demands of leadership and family. Whether clients are tackling new responsibilities at work, managing dual roles as parent and professional, or dealing with other significant life transitions, Jan guides individuals to get clear about their purpose and make choices accordingly.

Jan is known for her ability to dig deep and build connection with her clients. While she approaches coaching from a results-oriented perspective, she encourages discoveries to be made in the moment. For her, one of the greatest joys in coaching occurs when a client finds their confidence in an area that had previously been a blind spot.

Qualifications

- International Association of Coaches
- Compass Enterprise Training
- University of Oklahoma

Areas of Expertise

- Leadership development
- Communication skills
- Career growth and fulfillment
- Personal development
- Parental transitions
- Complex transitions

Sectors: Legal, Human Resources, Financial, Professional Services